

Russian-speaking International Legal Consultant

Gentium Law Group is a dynamic and successful arbitration boutique law firm currently developing an international public interest practice. It is looking for a russian-speaking International Legal Consultant to complete its team.

The ideal candidate will have the following:

- Top grades from an internationally recognised law school
- Professional experience in either an international organization or/and a multinational corporation
- Demonstrated interest in international law, arbitration and Human Rights
- Demonstrated desire and legal capability to live/work in Geneva and/or elsewhere in Switzerland
- Agreeability to working in a multicultural office environment
- Russian mother tongue; professional fluency in English is a must (sufficient to conduct advocacy); professional fluency in French
- An ability to work in a small firm environment, as a compliment with a group of very talented people; a willingness and capability to take on more responsibilities than might be typical in an arbitration practice from the outset
- A desire to work in an informal, relaxed and fun atmosphere in which the very highest quality of work is nevertheless regarded as a prerequisite
